The table above shows past performance of the ETF from 6 March 2018. Index performance shown prior to 31 October 2017 is simulated based on the current index methodology. Results are calculated to the last business day of the month and assume immediate reinvestment of distributions. ETF results are net of management fees and costs incurred in the fund, but before brokerage fees or bid/ask spreads incurred when investors buy/sell on the ASX. Returns for periods longer than one year are annualised. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of current or future performance which may be lower or higher.

Key risks

There is no universal ESG criteria nor definition to assess companies, ETFs or other funds and currently, Australia does not have an ESG or sustainability-related investment taxonomy. This means the approach used to determine ESG ratings varies significantly across research bodies, index companies and investment managers, ranging from superficial applications of ESG metrics to more comprehensive approaches. There is the risk that an investor's views and opinions on sustainability or ESG might differ to that of the index methodology which the Fund aims to track or that of VanEck. It is important that an investor considers the PDS, target market determination and supporting disclosures to determine if the Fund aligns with their values and is right for them.
